From quick tips to expert advice, a look at how one can transform the indulgent bedroom into a romantic space this Valentine's Day.

Jay Liu, the co-founder of Right Angle Studio, is passionate about spatial styling and has applied his skills in various residential homes, commercial projects and collaborations.

"Gentle hues, soothing rest—there's no greater love than a bedroom that embraces the soul. I live by that quote when creating a dreamy, love-focused bedroom. I always believe a bedroom should be a safe space for rest, healing and feeling cossetted by your loved one. It should be a place where timeless design and subtlety take centre stage."
