Nestled within the heart of Singapore's core central district, HS Residence is intricately tailored to the lifestyles of a young family.

With a cleverly designed open floor plan, the space invites both residents and guests to fully immerse themselves in its expansive layout. Upon entering via a private lift, one is greeted by a charming view of a small tree adorning the balcony. This sight unfolds into a breathtaking vista of the spacious living and dining areas, unobstructed and bathed in natural light. The interior design showcases a harmonious blend of luxurious materials, from the elegant Navona travertine to the exquisite Grigio stardust marble, utilised in both the architectural elements and tasteful furnishings. The carefully curated selection of organic pieces adds a touch of warmth, artfully contrasting with the clean lines of the space. As the eye is drawn through wooden portals on either end, a captivating plant feature takes centre stage at the farthest point.

Moving towards the private quarters, the ambiance transitions from open serenity to intimate indulgence, gently illuminated by soft ambient lighting. An elegant bespoke fluted screen gracefully separates the home office, which showcases the homeowner's collection of limited edition glass bottles and meticulously designed objects.

Symbolising the concept of understated luxury amidst the bustling urban environment, this project aspires to create a seamless interior vocabulary, crafted with meticulous attention to detail and the promotion of mental well-being.
