A balance of quiet poise and ageless classics forms the backbone of this Bukit Timah landed home by Right Angle Studio

Nestled in a serene enclave of Bukit Timah, Greenmead House was crafted by the design firm Right Angle Studio (RAS) as a fusion of contemporary refinement and timeless elegance. Designed for homeowners in the investment industry, the residence reflects the owners' preference for a sophisticated, understated aesthetic.

The design approach for the residence, which spans 8,000 sq. ft. including outdoor areas, embraces clean lines, rich materials, and spatial harmony to create a home that is both luxurious and inviting. A key principle, the overall design philosophy of this Bukit Timah landed home was governed by the notion of accentuating key architectural elements while preserving a sense of openness and flow.
